Collections

If you've fallen behind on payments, your account could be sent to collections. This can have a big impact on your credit score.

Clean slate! As of your latest update, you have no collections on your credit report.

Bank accounts

Bank accounts can be added to your report if they were closed for a negative reason, like a bad cheque or insufficient funds.

As of your latest update, you have no negative bank account information on your credit report.

Public records

Things like bankruptcies and legal judgments against you can show up on your credit report, and do some damage to your score.

Keep it up! As of your latest update, you have no public records on your credit report.

Credit inquiries

When you apply for a new account, a hard credit inquiry will usually get added to your report. These can make a small dent in your score. Here are the inquiries on your TransUnion report:
